WSFA EDITORIALS

Each of the following editorials aired twice per week during the quarter and were also posted on the station website.

Editorial: "Alabama Politics"

Posted: April 1, 2016 4:55 PM CDT

Just when you thought it couldn't get any stranger this pops up. The Governor is accused of having an affair, though both parties deny it. The Governor has apologized for his inappropriate conversations. Whatever has happened, it seems to have been enough to cause Mrs. Bentley to stop being Mrs. Bentley. Is that enough for him to resign? It's a debatable topic. Looking at our country's history it would seem like the answer would be no.

There is no denying that it is another huge embarrassment for the state. The recorded conversations keep coming, and each one makes us all a little more uncomfortable, but history says we all seem to get over it. I am sure that is what the Governor is counting on.

So, what if the Governor misused government money to hide the affair? That is another issue all together. If that is proven then he has no choice but to resign, right? Well current day situations say proving that in court could take years, and by the time it is all settled he will be done with his term.

No matter what, a good portion of Alabama state politics continues to be a carnival side show. The latest instance is a great example of that. Interestingly enough I think the most disturbing news that came out about the Governors office in the last two weeks is not a possible extra marital affair, but the huge pay raises that he gave cabinet members. With the events of this past week, perhaps equal attention should still be on that action by Governor Bentley.

Editorial: "The Session is Winding Down"

Posted: April 12, 2016 2:28 PM CDT

The legislative session is in the home stretch, and with all eyes focused on the governor, legislators and their progress, or lack thereof, has gone somewhat unnoticed.

The legislature passed a budget that does not properly fund Medicaid and does not offer any help to many other agencies that are working at well below recommended standards. Remember that last statement when you are stuck behind yet another semi-truck accident on the interstate and it takes several hours to clean it up. That does not happen in states that have properly funded and staffed state law enforcement agencies.

For a reason that is beyond me the vast majority of the elected leaders of this state, and many of the citizens, refuse to see that the state is not funding the basic needs of its citizens.

The Republican establishment hates the lottery, so that is out. What's left are the options of continuing to erode, or taxes. Most, including myself, don't want to give more money to a government that has absolutely proven to not be able to manage the money, but we have to fund the basic needs and Medicaid is one of those basic needs for many hard working or retired citizens.

My guess is that we will be talking about this for months to come. So, if you are frustrated or happy with the budget or the session, tell your state senator or state representative. Do not let their lack of solutions silence your voice as we voted these politicians into office.

Editorial: "Tourism"

I often stand here and show you graphs or site statistics that show Alabama at the bottom of any particular category. Well today I am going give you some positive news about our state, the region and an industry that is showing tremendous growth.

Tourism in Alabama has grown 86% since 2003. Estimates show that statewide the tourism industry grew by 7.7% just last year, as more than 25 million visitors spent $12.6 billion. In Montgomery County alone $777 million was spent and 11,981 jobs are in some way tied to tourism. Montgomery County ranks fifth in total dollars in the state. If you include the entire River Region we would rank even higher.

City and county officials along with chamber leaders are to be commended for the effort to drive tourism to our region. The RSA has had a huge impact on tourism with the building of the Robert Trent Jones Golf Trail, along with other outdoor projects. Even my parent company, Raycom, has gotten into the mix by bringing the Camellia Bowl to Montgomery two years ago and signing on for years to come.

According to a report by economist Dr. Keivan Deravi, without the dollars collected by the tourism industry each household in the state would end up paying $424 in additional taxes each year.

So next time you are at a Biscuits game, on an RTJ golf course, or at one of the many other events available to us, and you see an obvious out-of-towner enjoying it with you, say thanks. They just paid a small part of your taxes.

Editorial: "Payday Loans"

Posted: April 21, 2016 4:57 PM CDT

I have been quietly watching a piece of legislation to see if it would actually make it all the way through, and to my dismay it looks like it won't.

The legislation is designed to reform the payday loan industry. Senator Orr and others pushed this bill through the Senate but it is struggling to get out of committee in the House. With the session winding down this important piece of legislation could be out of time.

The payday loan industry has a place in our society. Higher interest rates are a must as the collection percentages are lower and that causes greater costs for the business owner.

The truth though is that the industry model is built on repeat customers who have to take out loans to pay off other loans and the cycle continues. Typically these loans are for 14 to 30 days, which is a very short window. They have very high interest rates. These rates are often over 100% and can reach over 400%.

Payday loans should be a one-time occurrence to get you back on your feet. Under today's rules they are a trap that many cannot get out of, and the original debt can get more than quadrupled by interest.

Senator Orr is pushing for longer payoff times and lower interest rates. Today the House version of this bill is in the House Financial Services Committee. This committee is known for slow action and has a very small window to review and push the bill to the floor for a vote.

This is good legislation that will regulate an industry that needs regulation. Move the bill forward and get it to the floor before the session ends.

Guest Editorial: "End of School"

Posted: April 25, 2016 1:40 PM CDT

As a preventative initiative, I invite all parents of middle school students in the Montgomery Public Schools system to attend one of several meetings to address students who choose to fight at the end of school.

Young girls rip off one another's tops exposing their bodies publicly, they rip out one another's hair and weaves so as to humiliate, and lastly, someone foolishly posts these fights across Facebook, YouTube, Snapchat, and other social media. These fights are a cry for attention and send the message, "Nobody better mess with me!" They're often the result of ongoing vendettas, socioeconomic anger issues, and lack of parental control, as studies show many parents are trying to be their children's friend instead of being a parent. These fights are not a source of pride for the community, but are a disgrace!

We are in no way inferring that these meetings will keep students from fighting but are an effort to make parents more aware and to get their buy in to more closely monitor their children's behavior and stop turning a deaf ear. If you've already had to address disciplinary problems at your child's school, we ask that you don't condone these behaviors, and be willing to acknowledge that your child's behavior may have contributed to matters getting out of hand.

Parents please join me. Let's work together to help our children understand they don't have to fight -- they can make more intelligent choices. We as parents and grandparents also make choices. Hopefully, we will all choose to make sure there are no fights amongst any MPS students as school comes to an end.

Come on Montgomery, we're better than this. After all, our children's futures do matter!

The meetings are scheduled for:

- Monday, May 9 at 6 p.m. Cleveland Avenue YMCA
- Tuesday, May 17 at 6 p.m. at Goodwyn Community Center.

Editorial: "Safe Harbor"

Posted: April 28, 2016 1:46 PM CDT

Not many people know that we have a sex trafficking super highway running right through the heart of Alabama.

I-20 from Birmingham to Atlanta is the top sex trafficking highway in the United States. Women and girls, some under 18, are being coerced or forced into the sex trade with few good options to escape.

There's a bill in motion, that just passed overwhelmingly in the Alabama House, that is now in the Senate titled the Human Trafficking Safe Harbor Act.

Representative Jack Williams of Vestavia Hills is the sponsor, and his goal is to "pass a law that plants a flag that says Alabama will be the most difficult state to purchase sex or pimp out others for sex." This bill, which I strongly support, will introduce a new layer of protections for the child-victims while escalating the punishment of those soliciting sex.

There are non-profit organizations in Alabama including the Well House, that offer shelter and long term housing to women and girls who have been sexually exploited through human trafficking. The Well House is the only 24-hour shelter in the Southeast offering immediate assistance without certain entry requirements that other states have as prerequisites to receive help.

We applaud both Representative Williams and the fine folks at the Well House for doing what they can to reduce the sex trade in our state, while helping women and young girls escape and recover from this dark and dangerous trade.

Editorial: "LPGA Back in Prattville"

Posted: May 3, 2016 4:32 PM CDT

Another great weekend is shaping up in the River Region. This weekend Prattville is the place to be with the Yokohama Tire LPGA Classic back in town for another year.

Prattville and Capitol Hill put on a great tournament and the Senator course is a great stadium type venue to watch golf from. If you are not a golf fan, don't worry, there are plenty of other activities on the grounds. But go ahead and take a look. You might decide you want to watch the golf more than you thought.

Professional golf typically does not come to cities our size. The RSA and the City of Prattville do an incredible job presenting a top rate tournament. Some of the best players in the world and several Olympians will be here.

Later in the summer the PGA tour returns to Opelika for the second year. This is another example of "if you build they will come". The RTJ trail was built to increase tourism in Alabama. These tournaments and the national TV audience that comes with them will showcase the trail and in our case this weekend in the River Region.

Good luck to the participants and, just as important to the tournament, staff and all of the volunteers. It looks like the weather is dialed up to be perfect and, like I have said before, if you are out at the tournament and see people from out of town, say thank you for coming. They just paid some of your taxes.

Editorial: "Another Session in the Books"

Posted: May 5, 2016 2:36 PM CDT

Another legislative session is in the books, and it looks like another special session is on the way.

The 2016 legislative session went on with little fanfare compared to recent years. Both budgets were passed early on, though the General Fund and the issue with Medicaid funding will probably bring legislators back in late summer.

Among the positives, and there were some positives, was an Education Budget that included long overdue teacher pay raises. Hopefully this is a start to better teacher and administrative pay. This will allow Alabama to compete with other states for the best teachers and administrators.

The big misses were a prison bill stalling out without resolution, a lottery not making it to the floor, and the lack of Medicaid funding. These are the three largest issues that face our state today and all are in some way tied together.

All in all it was another tough session for legislators and another year of little progress when it comes to solving the state's financial woes.

If you are happy with what was done over the last few months let your legislator know about it. If not and you are tired of seeing your tax dollars going to endless special sessions let them know that too.

Editorial: "Who said Trump Should Get Out?"

Posted: May 10, 2016 2:10 PM CDT

Here we are on knocking on the front door of the Republican convention, and who is there to answer the door? Donald Trump.

I said last December that Trump should get out of the race. I said that he lacked diplomacy and that his outlandish comments were unfitting a president. I also said that in the end he could never win the Republican nomination. On the last statement I was obviously wrong.

Over the last six months the overwhelming majority of the Republican party has said that Donald Trump is exactly what is needed to change the way politics are played in Washington. The name calling, the over exaggerated promises, and the endless twitter rants have struck a chord with many Republicans from all parts of the country.

I have to admit that I too am fed up with the lack of cooperation, endless spending, and the lack of results that come from Washington. Donald Trump has spent his life brokering deals and compromising for the good of the deal. That is what all want isn't it? In the end though I don't think that is what sold all those people on him. I really do think it was the public disregard for those who are in his way.

For the next five months we will be watching Hillary Clinton battle it out with Mr. Trump to be the next leader of the country. If nothing else it will be entertaining to watch. Secretary Clinton comes with her own unique personality and history. The primary races have been full of firsts. I am sure that there will be more fireworks to come, because if I have learned anything, I have learned that no one knows what he is going to say next.

Editorial: "Inmate Strike?"

Posted: May 12, 2016 2:49 PM CDT

For most of May inmates at several Alabama prisons have been on strike. On the surface they are striking because they are not getting paid for work performed while in prison.

For that I say, "Get back to work."

The amount of money that it costs to incarcerate you is way more than what your salary would pay for.

If we look a little deeper though we see that the real issue is the prisons themselves.

Most are at almost 200% of capacity. Most are extremely outdated facilities that are understaffed and lacking the ability to supply basic needs. The issues that are caused by the deplorable conditions are really what these inmates are striking about.

The legislature, again, was not able to agree on a prison bill brought forth by Governor Bentley that would ease the overcrowding and even help to provide proper care for the thousands of mentally ill inmates who should be in separate facilities.

While I feel the inmates are wrong to strike, I agree with them that attention must be put on the issues that state officials have allowed to go on involving prisons.

To the legislature I would say the same to you that I would say to striking inmates, "Get back to work."

Editorial: "Words of Wisdom"

Posted: May 17, 2016 4:20 PM CDT

You may think that your graduating high school senior isn't going to drink and then drive on their way to and from a number of sure to be planned graduation parties later this month, and maybe they won't. We certainly hope not.

However, a survey of more than 2,500 high school juniors and seniors conducted last year found that 79 percent of those teens surveyed said that their peers are more likely to drink and drive on graduation night.

These young men and women may think that as long as they aren't driving, or are not in a car, they can drink as much as they want without having to worry about consequences. But negative consequences are always possible when young people engage in drinking, which is not only illegal but has led to devastating life altering events, including death.

So talk to your teen before they head out the door, set guidelines and check to see if there is appropriate supervision at the parties your children will be attending. Go as far as letting them know that no matter what, they can call you to pick them up. No questions asked.

It's the least you can do to help make sure they have a fun, memorable and safe time with memories they look forward to reliving for a lifetime.

Editorial Feedback: "Trump Responses"

Posted: May 19, 2016 4:20 PM CDT

Last week I owned up to my earlier statement that Trump could never win the Republican nomination, and now that he looks to have won the nomination, I discussed the race with Hillary Clinton that is in front of us.

James wants us to look past the mainstream candidates.

"Time for those of you who are undecided to make your choice. It does not have to be Trump or Hillary. Time to do away with this asinine two party system. I urge you to look at the other choices like Libertarian Gary Johnson who will be on the ballot in all 50 states. Don't be fooled into voting for a lesser of two evils when you don't have to choose evil at all," James said.

Robert supports Trump for a reason I can understand.

"The core Republican party is made up of mainstream voters. Not conservatives, the maybe 10% trying to control the party. Trump hears the base," Robert said.

"Yes, flip it upside down. Fire all the lifers get something done to help America. Take those who can work off welfare put those who are in need on it. Take care of our Veterans who have given so much and stop funding terrorism across the world!!! Go Trump," Ryan said.

Becky, not so much.

"Hell no. The man is a complete idiot. He flip flops more than a fish out of water. Besides pointing figures and insulting people. He has yet to tell us his plan for anything," Becky said.

Great responses and there were many others. One response always stands out, and this week is no different.

Shamekanicole may be on to something here.

"I don't think America should elect any president in 2016. We need to be single for a few years and find ourselves," Shamekanicole said.

That may not be a bad idea. Alabama might think about that as well. Thank you all for the comments.

Editorial: "Is It Really Going to Happen?"

I was reminded recently just how long ago Alabama House Speaker Mike Hubbard, was indicted by a grand jury and charged with 23 class B felonies. It was October of 2014; more than a year and a half ago. Delay after delay made me start to wonder if this trial would ever begin. Well, that time has come.

Alabama's Speaker has brought loads of negative attention to our state over the last year and a half, due to the charges levied against him and the seemingly never ending delays to the impending trial. It would be hard to imagine a storyline that could draw attention away from such a trial involving our state's Speaker and the abuse of power charges levied against him. But, this is Alabama, and our governor and our Supreme Court chief justice are doing their best to keep Mr. Hubbard off the 6 o'clock news.

So we now have a jury set over in Lee County. They will have front row seats to what will surely be a fierce battle for one man's integrity, office and ultimately freedom. I don't think it's far-fetched to say Alabama is also on trial, as the country will also witness yet another circus involving Alabama politicians.

In the end, Alabamians need this trial behind us so we can put to an end of all the rumor and innuendo, and get back to Alabama politics as usual, or better yet, not the usual

Alabama politics, perceived and real, must turn a corner once and for all, and now this pivotal moment in time has my eyes squarely focused on a Lee County courthouse

Editorial: "Memorial Day"

Posted: May 26, 2016 11:56 AM CD

Memorial Day marks the unofficial beginning of summer. It is for many an opportunity to get to the beach, the lake, or even the back yard with family and friends. We should not, however, forget the true intention of the holiday, to honor those who have fallen to protect this country and the freedoms that we have.

Thousands upon thousands of men and women have given their lives so we can live safely and proudly in the greatest country there is... many of them from right here from the River Region.

So as you are out enjoying what looks to be a beautiful weekend, take a moment in between the eating and drinking and say a quick prayer of thanks for those that helped to make it possible.

Have a happy and safe Memorial Day from all of us here at WSFA 12 News.

Editorial: "TSA Security Issues"

Posted: June 7, 2016 4:49 PM CD

If you have traveled through a major airport recently, you probably have noticed extra-long lines at the security check points. Luckily we do not have this issue in Montgomery, but larger airports do. Some passengers are even missing their airline flight because the screening process is taking so long. So whose fault is it?

The aviation security fees were hiked in 2013, raising an extra $1.2 billion, to make it a faster process.

But that money was diverted, supposedly for deficit reduction and other things; it didn't go to expediting the screening process.

In addition, the TSA is losing its workforce in big numbers. TSA screeners are now down by 5,000 from 2013.

At the same time, the volume of passengers has risen 15 percent, to 740 million. The Bureau of Transportation Statistics expects that number to pass 800 million this year.

Congress has put an extra $34 million in the TSA budget, and they are hiring about 750 extra screeners. But these are just band aids on a deep wound.

This sad tale reinforces the notion that anything the government can do, private companies can do better. And many airports are looking in that direction.

Congress and the TSA have got to address the issue quickly but in all honesty, like many other issues, they should have gotten it done before now.

Editorial: "The Presidential Race is Set"

Posted: June 9, 2016 10:16 AM CD

It took longer than most expected on the Democratic side, and a year ago nobody would have predicted the Republican nominee, but we are finally down to two main candidates.

I don't want to slight the Libertarians in the area but, really, two candidates with the backing to win. Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton are our candidates for President of the United States of America. I saw that headline last night and immediately thought "What just happened?"

What happened on the Democratic side is Secretary Clinton was anointed the candidate eight years ago. She has done her best to make that an indefensible position... so much so that she was pushed hard by a candidate who more resembles a Socialist than a Democrat. Nevertheless, here we are.

Donald Trump and the total chaos that has taken over the Republican Party have been the real story of the primaries. Republicans in large numbers are saying "enough is enough", not just to a Democratic president but to their own leadership. These Republicans want wholesale change, and for now they believe Donald Trump is the man to deliver it.

The truth is that the most qualified are not running for president. They see what is going on in Washington and are staying far away. The end of this movie is still very much a mystery. My prediction is that we all leave on some level, disappointed.

Editorial: "Another Senseless Shooting"

Posted: June 14, 2016 1:59 PM CD

We now have a new largest mass shooting record in the United States. The saddest part of that statement is that it is a record that will be broken. Probably sooner rather than later.

With the shooter being Muslim, it was easy to go straight to "terrorist act". With the killings involving assault rifles, it was easy to say, again, that something needs to be done about guns.

This seems to be about a troubled man who hated gay individuals. He hated them so much that he chose to take as many of their lives as he could. Whether that is an ideological issue or not could be debated. In the end one man chose to make that decision.

As a gun owner myself I am accustomed to the "we have to get the guns" as soon as something like this starts. My pro-gun upbringing immediately goes to "out of my cold dead hands".

That is the problem though isn't it. Strong anti-gun groups think all guns are bad, and if given high volume magazines or assault rifles they would want handguns and maybe more. The pro-gun contingent would never give up anything citing the second amendment and right to bear arms.

Both are wrong, and this is another great example of what is wrong with our political structure today. The far right and the far left refuse to meet in the middle.

If you are paying attention at all you have to realize that assault rifles and high magazine clips have no place in the public sector but meeting in the middle with no chance of additions to the list is the only way to get them off the streets.

Editorial: "Father's Day"

Posted: June 15, 2016 3:43 PM CD

As we roll up to another Father's Day this weekend, I am reminded that not all of us have fathers who live up to the name.

I am very lucky. I have a father who loves me, supported me, and at times was tough on me. Most of all he was and is still there for me, even when we disagree on politics.

This week the Montgomery County District Attorney's office is rounding up delinquent fathers and mothers who are massively behind on their child support payments. District Attorney Bailey stated "I cannot force you to have a relationship with your child but I can force you to support your child."

WSFA is trying to help by posting a slide show of the child support offenders, hopefully bringing a brighter light to the issue.

Everyone runs into financial issues from time to time. That is not what the D.A. is talking about. He is looking for the worst of the worst. The individuals who have abandoned their responsibility and left that responsibility to someone else. In many cases the bulk of that falls on the state.

If you are behind, come clean. Find a way to start supporting your child. Get back in their life and make a positive influence. The DA said that he is willing to help you to get back on the right path.

Having a child is a blessing from God. Supporting your child is not your right, it is your responsibility... a responsibility that you will be judged on and not just by the courts.

Editorial: "Summer Fund and Food Drive"

Posted: June 21, 2016 2:46 PM CD

This week marks the beginning of summer. For many of that means vacations and summer fun. For many others it means kids are home all day and extra burdens on already taxed budgets.

On Thursday all of you will have a chance to help the Montgomery Area Food Bank to help those in need.

The Montgomery Area Foodbank services most of central and south Alabama and for every dollar donated, the MAFB can translate that into six and a half pounds of food for people right here.

Thursday we will be at Walmart on Chantilly Parkway from 5:00 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. We will again be partnering with Cumulus Media and our long term, fantastic, community partner, Dixie Electric to collect food and money to help the Food Bank do what it does best... take your money and make it go much further than you could imagine.

Last year we raised almost $8,000 and 6,100 pounds of food. This year we want to shatter that mark. Our goal is $10,000 in cash and 8,000 pounds of food.

Please make time to drop by and donate to this local cause. No amount of money is too small. You don't even need to get out of your car. Just drive by, and a volunteer, including many of our news team, will be there to take your donations and say "Thank you".

Editorial: "Chaos on the House Floor in Washington"

Wednesday and deep into the early morning hours Thursday House Democrats posed a sit-in over the Speaker of the House not allowing gun control legislation to come to a vote. Similar legislation had been voted on and was defeated in the Senate earlier.

On the surface, depending on which side of the aisle you stand, this is either the Republicans standing up for gun owners' rights or Democrats standing up for victims' rights. In the end it is neither.

In the end it is select members from both parties who are so out of touch that they can't even produce and vote on a simple piece of legislation that polls say 90% of all Americans believe in.

People on the no fly list or who are under investigation for terrorism should not be able to purchase a gun. That does not seem hard to me. It is though, because the far left wants more and the far right can't imagine agreeing with anything that the far left would agree to.

So here we are. The legislature is in recess for the 4th of July holiday, and the easiest of bills can't even get to a vote.

I have not read the proposed bill I will admit that. It may be a bill that Republicans cannot agree with. I am ok with that, but vote on it. Tell your constituents where you stand and why. Defeat it if necessary and then come up with a bill that will work for all parties that will keep no fly list persons and suspected terrorist from purchasing a gun.

You were all sent there to do a job and that job was to discuss issues, vote on and make laws that are in the best interest of Americans. If you can't get this one right what can you get right.

Editorial: "Supreme Court Immigration Ruling"

There have been several rulings by the Supreme Court in the last few weeks. The abortion rights ruling involving Texas has gotten the most press. It should, as it has an effect on several other states including Alabama.

There was another ruling that I was paying close attention to though. The Supreme Court was deadlocked four to four on President Obama's attempt to grant de facto amnesty to millions of illegal immigrants via executive order. The deadlock upheld a lower court's ruling to block the attempt by the president.

U.S Representative Martha Roby released this statement about the Ruling:

"The Supreme Court's decision affirms the separation of powers, one of the most fundamental governing principles in our Constitution. The president cannot legislate or rule like a king. I believe this decision sends a strong message to President Obama and future presidents that constitutional order and the rule of law must prevail in this country.

"Amnesty won't solve our immigration problems. We have to secure the border and enact better policies that discourage illegal entry, punish lawbreakers and promote America's economic interests."

While I agree with the entire statement, the last part is the one that I have experience with.

Amnesty has been tried and it does not work. I have seen firsthand the positive effects that Mexican immigrants have on our economy and the country's growth. The rebuilding of New Orleans after Katrina is a great example.

I have also seen the negative that comes with an unsecure border. I have seen the drug running, the theft, and even the murders that come with open borders. Laws that are in place must be enforced. New laws should be put in place that help those who want to come here to make a living, pay taxes and abide by our laws.
